February 2020

1. INTRODUCTION

This document provides training specifications for compliance with licensing by the Private Security Authority and applies to individuals seeking temporary licences to provide security services in the Event Security sector.

The Government of Ireland through the Private Security Services Act, 2004, established the Private Security Authority (PSA) as the national regulatory and licensing body for the private security industry. The PSA's mission is:

To regulate the activities of those involved in the private security industry to ensure that the interests of consumers are fully protected through the establishment, promotion, monitoring and enforcement of appropriate standards.

Individuals seeking a temporary licence from the PSA must successfully undertake training in accordance with this document. Only PSA contractors licensed to provide Event Security services may provide this training. The training shall be delivered by a competent person assigned by the licensed contractor for such purposes.

Delivery of the training contained in this document shall be carried out through the English or Irish language only. Trainers are required to ensure that all individuals have a level of English which will allow them undertake their duties without putting event patrons, work colleagues or the general public at risk.

NOTE: For the purposes of licensing a temporary licence (event security) means an individual who guards or patrols or provides any other protective services in relation to any premises or any other place where a public or private event or function is taking place or about to take place and includes a person who for those purposes controls, supervises, regulates, restricts or directs the movements of persons, whether in vehicles or otherwise.
